

The

LOVE IN THE TIME OF FORECLOSURE

Pledge

I, _____, pledge:

To not allow this foreclosure to get the best of me.

I will mine this financial crisis for every opportunity.

I will stay in communication with my family and friends.

I will stay in communication with the bank and my creditors.

I will learn every lesson there is to be learned from this.

I will live in the moment. I will ask for and accept help.

I will take time every day to connect with the people in my life.

I will take time every day to do something that makes me happy.

I will empower myself to be happy without the need to spend money.

I will continue to live my life productively and responsibly.

I will acknowledge my fear and act in the face of it.

I pledge to Love. To love others, to love myself and to love my life...
in the time of foreclosure...

in the time of hardship of any kind.

From Stephanie Alison Walker's
brave new memoir.
At major online booksellers now.

